Scary, but True

Teen Driving Safety

Teens are the most vulnerable age group on the road. Why?:

1. They take more risks

speeding, racing, and making impulsive decisions.

2. They get distracted

especially by texting or using their phones.

3. They lack driving experience

which affects their ability to react quickly in dangerous situations.

4. They may drive under the influence

many teens are new to drinking or may feel peer pressure.

What We Know?

What We Know:

Distractions while driving are one of the leading causes of car accidents among teens. It's important to have open conversations with your teen about:

● Discuss the dangers of texting and driving.

● Talk about driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs.

● Educate about the risk of nighttime driving.
